

This is a digital copy of a book that was preserved for generations on library shelves before it was carefully scanned by Google as part of a project to make the world's books discoverable online.

It has survived long enough for the copyright to expire and the book to enter the public domain. A public domain book is one that was never subject to copyright or whose legal copyright term has expired. Whether a book is in the public domain may vary country to country. Public domain books are our gateways to the past, representing a wealth of history, culture and knowledge that's often difficult to discover.

Marks, notations and other marginalia present in the original volume will appear in this file - a reminder of this book's long journey from the publisher to a library and finally to you.

Usage guidelines

Google is proud to partner with libraries to digitize public domain materials and make them widely accessible. Public domain books belong to the public and we are merely their custodians. Nevertheless, this work is expensive, so in order to keep providing this resource, we have taken steps to prevent abuse by commercial parties, including placing technical restrictions on automated querying.

We also ask that you:

- + Make non-commercial use of the files We designed Google Book Search for use by individuals, and we request that you use these files for personal, non-commercial purposes.
- + Refrain from automated querying Do not send automated queries of any sort to Google's system: If you are conducting research on machine translation, optical character recognition or other areas where access to a large amount of text is helpful, please contact us. We encourage the use of public domain materials for these purposes and may be able to help.
- + Maintain attribution The Google "watermark" you see on each file is essential for informing people about this project and helping them find additional materials through Google Book Search. Please do not remove it.
- + Keep it legal Whatever your use, remember that you are responsible for ensuring that what you are doing is legal. Do not assume that just because we believe a book is in the public domain for users in the United States, that the work is also in the public domain for users in other countries. Whether a book is still in copyright varies from country to country, and we can't offer guidance on whether any specific use of any specific book is allowed. Please do not assume that a book's appearance in Google Book Search means it can be used in any manner anywhere in the world. Copyright infringement liability can be quite severe.

WILLIAM CHARLES MACREADY, ESQ.

Was born in the parish of St. Pancras, on the 3rd March, 1793. His father was the lessee and manager of several provincial theatres, and the subject of this notice was, at ten years of age, entered at Rugby School, where he acquired considerable reputation by his classical attainments. In the month of June, 1810, he first appeared as an actor on the stage of the Birmingham Theatre. During the next six years his performances extended to the theatres of Sheffield, Chester, Newcastle, Bath, Dublin, and Glasgow. On the 16th September, 1816, he first appeared before a London audience, at Covent Garden Theatre, as "Orestes," in The Distressed Mother,

In 1826, Mr. Macready visited America, and Paris in 1828. In 1837 he became lessee and manager of Covent Garden Theatre; but unable to accede to the demands of the Proprietors (which they were obliged greatly to reduce to their subsequent Lessees), at the end of the second season he resigned the management, when a public entertainment was given him at Freemasons' Hall, and a subscription for a handsome testimonial was entered into. In 1842, Mr. Macready a second time entered on the duties of management, by opening Drury Lane Theatre, and again resigned after the expiration of the second season.

In 1849, Mr. Macready again visited America, when, from the jealousy of a native, a riot ensued, the mob attacking the New York Astor Opera House. The military were called out to suppress the disturbances, which they did not accomplish till several lives had been sacrificed, by their firing upon them. After his return to England he appeared for short periods at the Theatre Royal, Haymarket, and finally took leave of the public at Drury Lane Theatre, on 26th February, 1851. A complimentary dinner was afterwards given him at the Hall of Commerce, in the City of London, at which Sir E. Bulwer Lytton presided. Since that time Mr. Macready has lived in retirement.

The accompanying Photograph was taken specially for this work by Mr. Skeolon, of Cheltenham.

SIR ROWLAND HILL,

K.C.B., F.R.S., F.R.A.S., &c.

THE subject of this notice was born at Kidderminster, on the 3rd December, 1795, and his father was Mr. Thomas Wright Hill, a schoolmaster at Hazelwood, near Birmingham. In 1835 he was appointed Secretary to the South Australian Commission. In 1837 he published a pamphlet on Post-Office Reform; and in the same year the House of Commons appointed a Committee upon the subject, which, in 1838, recommended the adoption of Mr. Hill's plan. In September, 1839, Mr. Hill was removed from the Secretaryship to the South Australian Commission to an appointment in the Treasury, in order that he might assist that department in giving effect to his plans; and on the 10th January, 1840, he had the satisfaction of seeing this accomplished. In 1843, however, he was discharged by Sir Robert Peel's Government from the position he occupied at the Treasury, and then became engaged in the management of the London and Brighton Railway. In 1846, a subscription was raised, amounting to the munificent sum of £13,360, and presented to Mr. Hill as a token of the public appreciation of his services in connexion with cheap postage. In the same year Mr. Hill was appointed Secretary to the Postmaster General; in 1854, on the resignation of Colonel Maberley, Mr. Hill became Secretary to the Post-Office, and in 1860 received the honour of being made a Knight Commander of the Bath.

Sir Rowland Hill is a younger brother of Mr. Matthew Davenport Hill, the Recorder of Birmingham; his second brother, Mr. Edwin Hill, is at the head of the Stamp Department; his brother, Mr. Arthur Hill, has long been known as conductor of the Bruce Castle Academy, at Tottenham; and Mr. Frederick Hill, late Inspector of Prisons, is now Assistant-Secretary to the Post-Office.

Sir Rowland Hill married, in 1827, Caroline, eldest daughter of the late Joseph Pearson, Esq., of Graisbury, near Wolverhampton.

The accompanying Photograph was taken specially for this work by Mr. Kilburn.

THE RIGHT HONOURABLE
EARL GREY.

HENRY GREY, third Earl Grey, was born the 26th December, 1802, and is the sixth child and eldest son of the third Viscount Grey, who governed his country during the passage of the Reform Bill. His mother was the only daughter of the first Lord Pembroke.

His Lordship was educated at Trinity College, Cambridge. He first entered the House of Commons as Viscount Grey in 1823, as Member for Warwick; in 1826, he was elected representative of the County of Hereford; and in the following year he was elected Member for the County of Northampton. At the General Election of 1831, remarkable for the rejection of a majority of the leading Whigs, Lord Grey was elected for Northamptonshire, and was shortly afterwards elected for the borough of Sunderland, which he continued to represent till 1841, when the death of his father entailed his elevation to the Peerage.

His Lordship has always been distinguished by his liberal and independent views on the administration of his father's country. In 1830, he was appointed to the important office of Secretary for the Colonies, which office he resigned in 1832, on consequence of a difference with Lord Stanley (now Earl Derby) on the question of Slave Emancipation. Subsequently, in 1834, he was appointed to the office of Secretary of State for Home Affairs, and on the formation of the second administration in 1835, he became Secretary of the Colonies, and in 1839, he was elected by the Whigs to the office of Lord Chancellor. In 1841, on the formation of a Government without the aid of the Whigs, he was appointed to the office of Lord President of the Council, and in 1846, he was promoted to the office of Lord Chancellor. HENRY GEORGE, third Earl Grey, was born the 28th December, 1802, and is the sixth child but eldest son of the distinguished Minister who governed this country during the passing of the Reform Bill. His mother was the only daughter of the first Lord Ponsonby.

His Lordship was educated at Trinity College, Cambridge. He first entered Parliament as Viscount Howick, in 1829, as Member for Winchester; in 1830, was elected representative of Higham Ferrars; and in the following year for the County of Northumberland. At the General Election in 1841, remarkable for the rejection of several of the leading Whigs, Lord Howick lost his seat for Northumberland, and was shortly after elected for the Borough of Sunderland, which he continued to represent till 1845, when the death of his father caused his elevation to the Peerage.

His Lordship has always been considered a skilful and formidable debater. On the formation of his father's ministry in 1830, he was appointed Under-Secretary for the Colonies, which office he resigned in 1833, in consequence of a difference with Lord Stanley (now Earl Derby) on the question of Slave Emancipation. Subsequently, in 1834, he again took office, as Under-Secretary for Home Affairs, and on the formation of Lord Melbourne's ministry in May 1835, he became Secretary-at-War, which office he held till 1841. On the return of the Whigs to office in 1846, Earl Grey accepted the post of Secretary for the Colonies, which office he resigned in 1852, on the break-up of Lord John Russell's government. His Lordship has not since held office, though it is understood he was invited by the Earl of Aberdeen to join the

RICHARD MONCKTON MILNES, ESQ., M.P.,

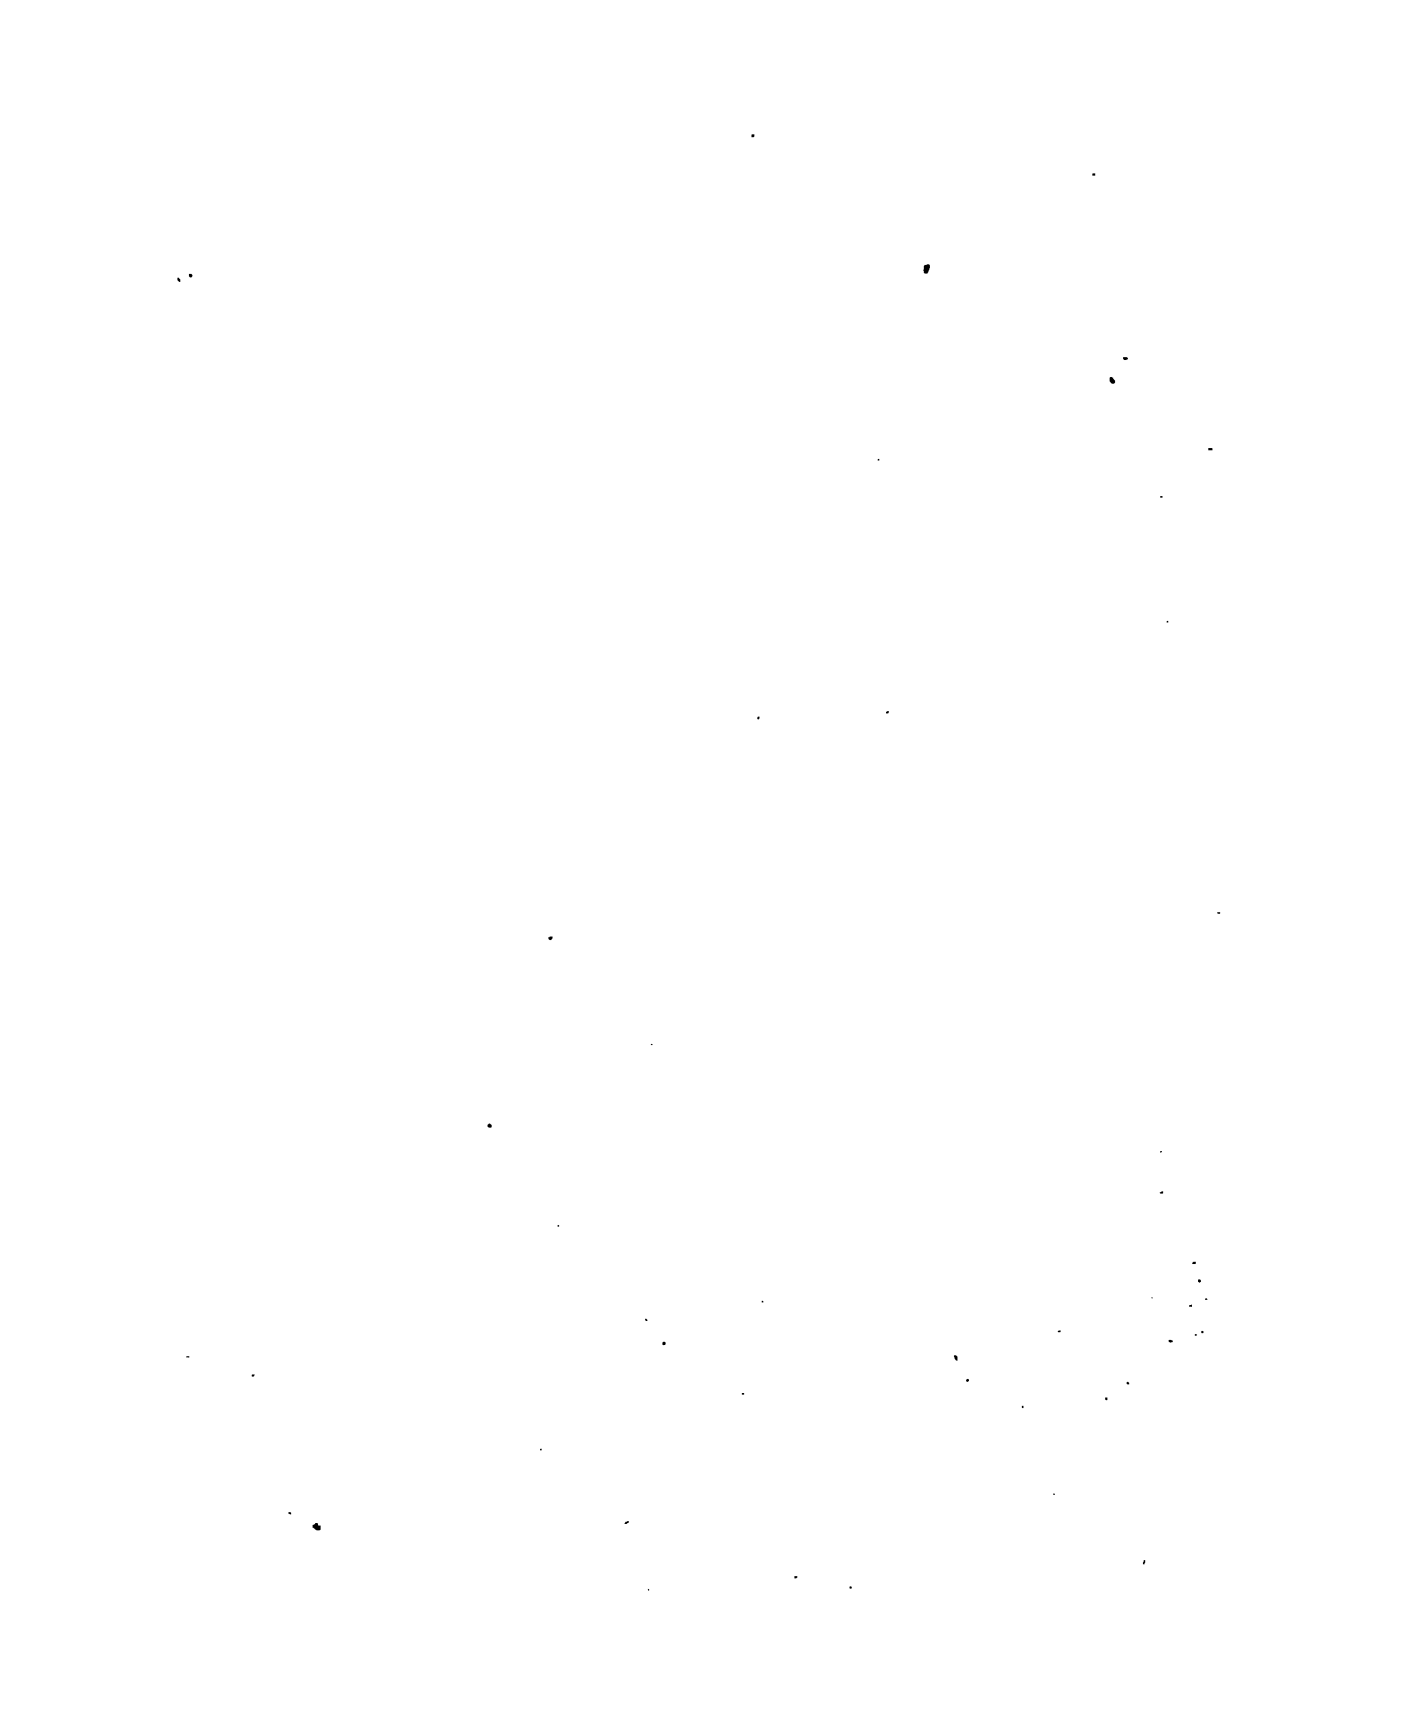

Is the eldest son of Robert Pemberton Milnes, Esq., of Fryston Hall, and Bawtry, Yorkshire, whose early oratorical reputation is one of the traditions of the House of Commons, by the Honorable Henrietta Maria, daughter of the fourth Viscount Galway, from whom Mr. Milnes derives the name of Monckton. He was born in 1809, and graduated M.A., in 1831, at the University of Cambridge, taking an honorary degree by right of royal descent.

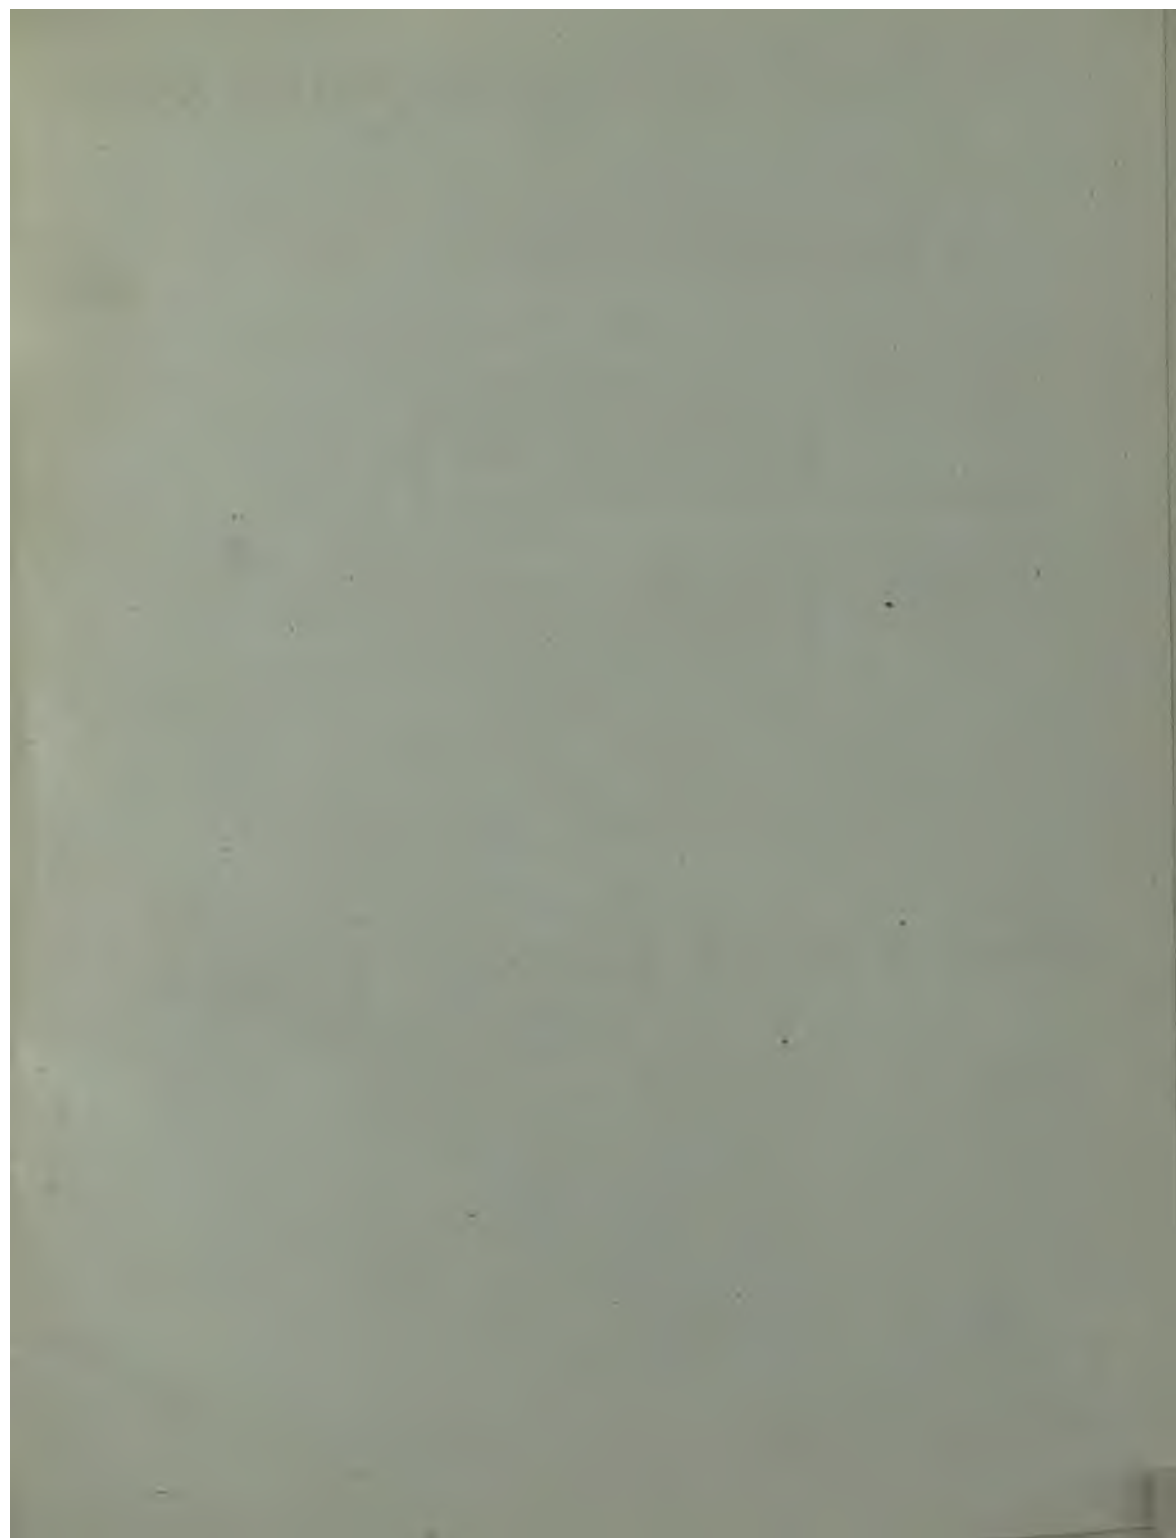

Mr. Milnes was elected Member for Pontefract at the General Election of 1837, and has continued to represent the same constituency to the present time. He has been a consistent supporter of the extension of education, and has taken a considerable part in all steps to promote sanitary improvements and the reformation of criminals. His motion of 1846 was the first practical attempt at legislation on the latter subject, and has been the foundation of all succeeding measures. Both in and out of Parliament he has also exhibited an earnest interest in continental politics, more especially in reference to the state of Italy, where he resided for many years in the earlier portion of his life.

Mr. Milnes married, in 1851, the Honorable Annabella Hungerford, daughter of the second Lord Crewe.

The published works of Mr. Milnes comprise "Memorials of a Tour in Greece;" "Poems of Many Years;" "Memorials of Many Scenes;" "Poems, Legendary and Historical;" "Palm Leaves;" "Life, Letters, and Literary Remains of John Keats." Besides these he has published several Essays, Pamphlets, and Speeches, and has contributed many articles on classical, literary, and political subjects to the Edinburgh and Quarterly Reviews.

The accompanying Portrait was taken specially for this work by Mr. Kilburn.

My dear General Sir George Thompson, Earl of Derby,
I have the pleasure of acknowledging the receipt of Mr. Stanley's letter of the 19th of March, in which he informs me that he has been elected at Ayr to chair the Duke of Devonshire. He obtained an overwhelming majority, and did not propose to take his seat. I have the pleasure of conveying Mr. Stanley's first letter to you, and I am glad to hear that the Duke of Devonshire is so well liked on the part of the members of the Association of Friends. I am sure that the Duke will be very much interested by the result. I am, Sir, very respectfully,
Yours truly,

THE RIGHT HONOURABLE

THE EARL OF DERBY, K.G.

THE Right Honourable Edward Geoffrey Stanley, fourteenth Earl of Derby, whose Portrait accompanies this Part, was born at Knowsley, on the 29th of March, 1799. He was educated at Eton, and at Christ Church, Oxford. He obtained at Oxford the Chancellor's prize for Latin verse, but did not proceed to take his degree of Bachelor of Arts. Lord Derby, as the Honourable Mr. Stanley, first entered Parliament for the borough of Stockbridge in 1821, shortly after attaining his majority. In 1826 he was returned for the more important borough of Preston, which, however, he did not long represent, having been rejected by that constituency in favour of the famous Henry Hunt. He was then elected for Windsor, and two years subsequently for the northern division of Lancashire.

His Lordship first took office under Mr. Canning, in April, 1827, as Under-Secretary for the Colonies; a post he continued to fill in the Government of Lord Ripon, who succeeded to the premiership on the death of Mr. Canning. Lord Grey, in 1830, invited Mr. Stanley to fill the office of Chief Secretary for Ireland, and among the more important measures introduced by him in that capacity was that establishing the system of National Education. Mr. Stanley shortly afterwards was appointed Secretary of State for the Colonies, and had the honour of introducing the famous Slave Emancipation Bill. In 1833, on the death of his grandfather, and his father becoming Earl of Derby, the subject of the present notice assumed his title of Lord Stanley. In 1834, with Sir James Graham, and several other prominent members of the Government, Lord Stanley seceded from the Whig party, and remained in Opposition till the formation of Sir Robert Peel's Government in 1841, when he returned to his former post as Colonial Secretary, which he continued to hold till 1845, when he retired from his political connexion with Sir Robert Peel, upon that statesman resolving to introduce the Corn Law Repeal Bill. In September, 1846, Her Majesty conferred a peerage upon Lord Stanley. Upon the resignation of Lord John Russell's Government in 1851, his Lordship was honoured with the commands of Her Majesty to form a Conservative Government, but he did not at that time accept the honour proposed by his Sovereign.

In February, 1852, on the break-up of the Whig Government, his Lordship, who had in the previous year succeeded his father as the Earl of Derby, was again commanded by the Queen to form a ministry, and succeeded in so doing, dissolving the Parliament in the following month of July. The new House of Commons, however, on its meeting in the month of December, showed itself hostile to his Lordship's ministry, and the Coalition Government of the late Lord Aberdeen succeeded to office. In the year 1858, the course of events again brought Lord Derby to the position of First Lord of the Treasury, which he continued to hold till 1859.

Upon the death of the Duke of Wellington, in 1852, the Earl of Derby was elected Chancellor of the University of Oxford. In the year 1859, his Lordship was made a Knight of the most honourable Order of the Garter.

Lord Derby was married, in 1825, to the Honourable Emma Caroline Wilbraham, second daughter of Lord Skelmersdale.

The accompanying Photograph of his Lordship was taken specially for this work by Mr. Kilburn.

SIR JOHN TAYLOR COLERIDGE

In 1818, Mr. Oglethorpe married Miss Elizabeth Oglethorpe, daughter of John Oglethorpe, Rector of Westminster, Surrey.

THE RIGHT HONOURABLE
SIR JOHN TAYLOR COLERIDGE,

Late one of the Judges of the Court of Queen's Bench, who is the second son of James Coleridge, Esq., of Heath's Court, Ottery St. Mary, and nephew of the celebrated Poet, was born at Tiverton, Devon, on the 9th of July, 1790. He was educated at Ottery St. Mary, and at Eton, and was elected a Scholar of Corpus Christi College, Oxford. He became a Fellow of Exeter College; won the Latin Verse Prize in 1810; was placed alone in the first class in Classics, in 1812; and in 1813, won both the English and the Latin Prize Essay of the year.

In 1818, Mr. Coleridge married Mary, daughter of the Rev. Dr. Buchanan, Rector of Woodmansterne, Surrey.

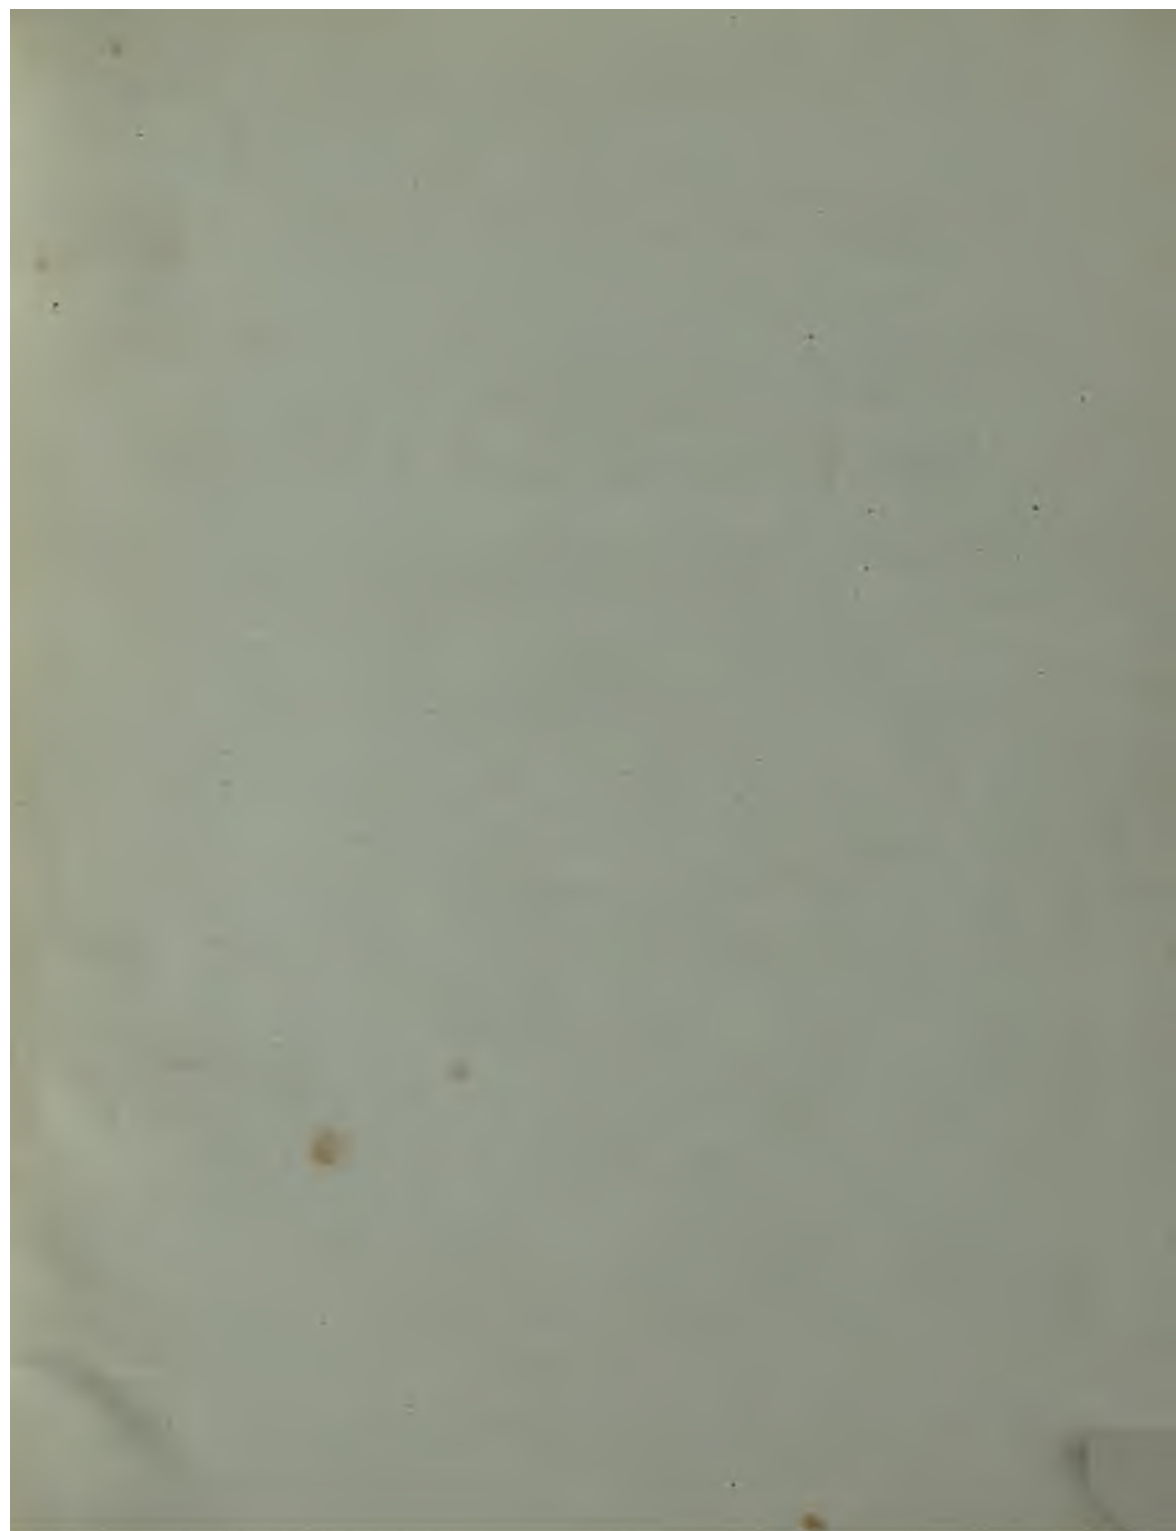

On the 10th June, 1819, Mr. Coleridge was called to the Bar at the Middle Temple, and thenceforth went the Western Circuit, which, during his practice, was attended by Sir Thomas Wilde, afterwards Lord Chancellor Truro, Sir William Follett, and the present Chief Justice Erle, and Mr. Justice Crowder. During his practice at the Bar, Mr. Coleridge acquired repute in leading literary circles, so much, indeed, that on the death of Giffard, in 1823, he was selected to edit the "Quarterly Review," until the appointment of Lockhart, in 1824; and we believe he has since been an occasional contributor to its pages. In 1825, he published an Edition of "Blackstone's Commentaries," with Annotations by himself. In 1832, he was appointed Recorder of Exeter, and became Serjeant-at-Law; and during the administration of Sir Robert Peel, in 1835, he was appointed one of the Judges of the King's Bench, receiving the customary honour of knighthood.

Sir John retired from the Court of Queen's Bench in June, 1858, and was sworn a member of the Privy Council, since which time he has regularly attended the Judicial Committee. About the same time, he was appointed on the Royal Education Commission, and also on the Commission for the Concentration of the Law Courts. Sir John had previously been appointed, by Parliament, in 1854, one of the Oxford University Commissioners.

The accompanying Photograph was taken specially for this work by Mr. Kilburn.
